Brief Description: -

Vice-Principal Ch Hari Babu presided over to said that Savitribai Jyotirao Phule was born on 3rd April, 1831 and she was died on 10th February, 1897. She was an Indian social reformer and poet. Govindrao Phule was an well-known Indian feminist.

IQAC-co-ordinator Dr.KVS Koteswarao Said that She played an important role in improving the status of women and sati. It was her fight against the discrimination that led to the end of Sati practice in India. Savitribai Phule started a school for girls which was one of the first schools to admit low-caste girls.

Academic co-ordinator K R Kishore Behara said In 1848 Savitribai opened a girls' school for Marathi and Sanskrit students at her home in Pune. She also taught girls from Brahmin, Arayans and other castes.

N S S Co-Ordinator D. SivaPhanidra Said that It was one of the first such schools for many reasons. The institution not only rejected caste but also imparted lessons in English and French languages.
